

Quill & Crow Publishing House

2027 CATALOG

Spring

JANUARY

Liquid Gold

by Wendy Dalrymple

A struggling new mother with no support after a traumatic birth experience finds help from a lactation specialist, but soon becomes trapped in their cult of motherhood. With no one to turn to, she must save herself and her newborn son—but at what cost?

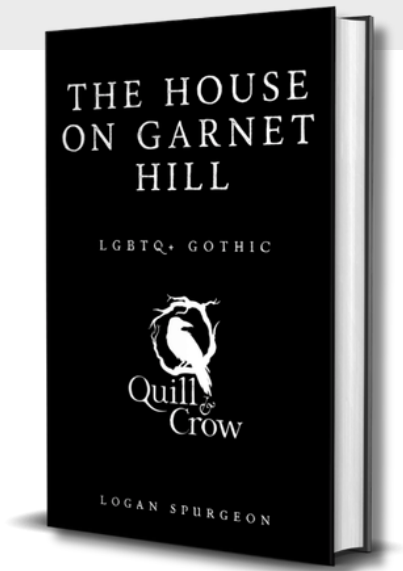

Horror | Women's

Imprint: Quill & Crow
Pub Date: Jan 12, 2027
ISBN: 978-1-967911-61-5
Format: paperback, ebook, audio

Wendy Dalrymple loves to explore the beauty in horrific things. When she's not writing femme-focused #pinkhorror, you can find her hiking with her family, painting (bad) wall art, and trying to grow as many pineapples as possible.

FEBRUARY

The House on Garnet Hill

by Logan Spurgeon

Blair Caraway swore he'd never see his former love, Adrian Galbraith, again—until a mysterious letter calls him to Garnet Hill. As their relationship reignites, Blair's grip on reality begins to slip when he starts to see ghosts. Together, they must untangle Garnet Hill's secrets before it's too late.

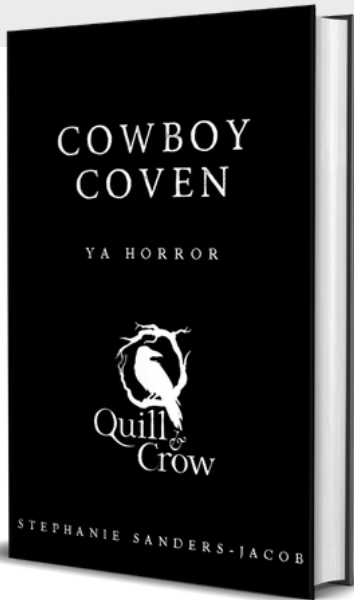

Gothic Horror | LGBTQ+

Imprint: Quill & Crow
Pub Date: Feb 9, 2027
ISBN: 978-1-967911-64-6
Format: hardcover, ebook, audio

Logan Spurgeon is a speculative fiction author living in Lexington, Kentucky. After leaving a doomsday cult he revived his dream of being a writer. When he's not crafting new stories, Logan loves spending time hiking, taking care of plants, cooking, making art, or having good conversations around the kitchen table.

MARCH

Cowboy Coven

by Stephanie Sanders-Jacob

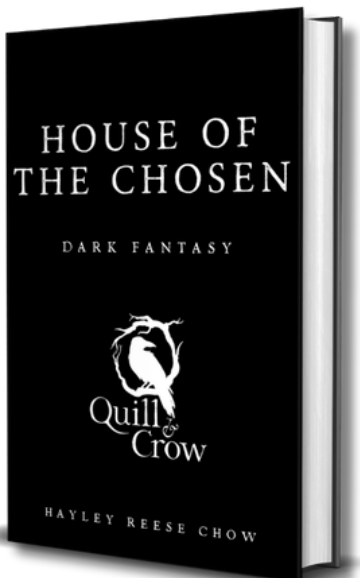

When Thomas was sent away to work on a ranch in Texas for accidentally killing his sister, he had no idea he would fall in love—or learn of a book that promised to resurrect the dead. Plagued by an unearthly beast that haunts the ranch and determined to right his past wrongs, he acquires the grimoire, hoping the spells inside will put an end to all his struggles. But finding the book is only the beginning...

YA Horror | LGBTQ+

Imprint: CROW TEEN
Pub Date: March 9, 2027
ISBN: 978-1-967911-66-0
Format: hardcover,
ebook, audio

Stephanie Sanders-Jacob writes horror and weird fiction. She lives in Sandusky, Ohio. Some of her favorite things include toads, Furbys, and unlikeable characters. She does not like pyramid schemes. You can find her online at sandersjacob.com.

House of the Chosen

by Hayley Reese Chow

The outside world is overrun by mindless husks, and the time has come for The Shepherd to choose his successor. But first, the Monarchs—the only ones capable of controlling the husks—must survive The Shepherd's house of horrors. For Remy, she must also outlive Silas, the Monarch she damned to servitude ten years earlier, and he's ready for his chance at vengeance.

Dark Romantasy

Imprint: Quill & Crow
Pub Date: March 23, 2027
ISBN: 978-1-967911-69-1
Format: hardcover,
ebook, audio

Hayley Reese Chow is a multi-genre, award-winning author of fantasy, science fiction, and paranormal mystery ranging from sweet romantic escapism to horrific dystopias to the quirky nooks and crannies that lie between. When not writing, her hat collection includes mother, wife, engineer, USAF veteran, reservist, four-time All-American fencer, ex-ultramarathoner, avid traveler, book inhaler, and super nerd. Hayley currently dodges hurricanes in Florida with two small book dragons, her long-suffering husband, and her miniature ragehound.

APRIL

Skitters

by Dane Erbach

Max Leavitt isn't excited about spending his summer working at his aunt's cursed hotel. He hears scratching inside the wall of one of the rooms, and finds an enormous metallic spider. When he chases it, he realizes he's slipped back in time to 1986. Time traveling is fun until the guests start dying in horrific ways, and he has to figure out how to get back to 2025—and what to do about the creepy skitters.

Spec-Fic | Horror

Imprint: Quill & Crow
Pub Date: Apr 6, 2027
ISBN: 978-1-967911-72-1
Format: paperback, ebook, audio

Dane Erbach is a writer from Chicago's northwest suburbs. He teaches English and journalism at a public high school.

Blesséd Be the Fall

by E.A. Noble

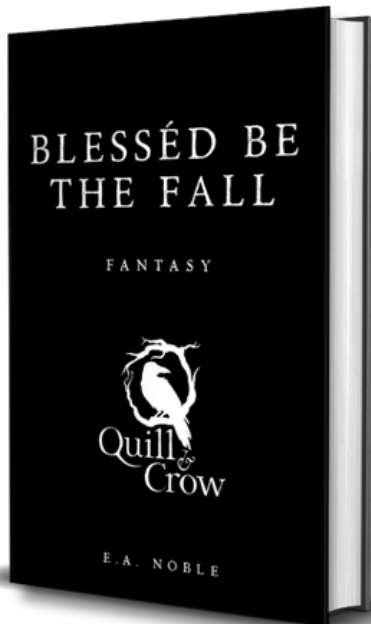

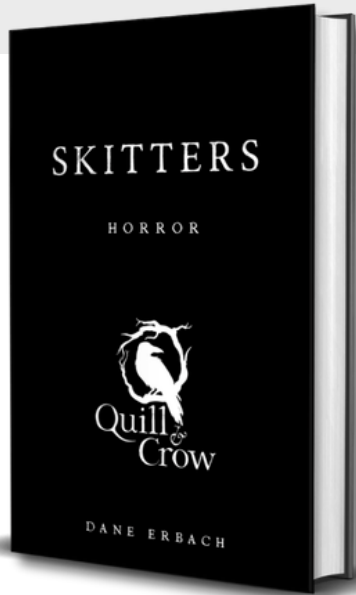

When E'kili, an immortal mermaid determined to reclaim her people's land and Thessia, a quiet and obedient priestess trapped in a patriarchal cult, join forces, their alliance threatens the foundations of both church and empire. Destined by fate, they must survive long enough to choose between vengeance and liberation, faith and freedom, love and sacrifice. Failure means the end of magic and the final death of Dragon Island.

Fantasy | LGBTQ+

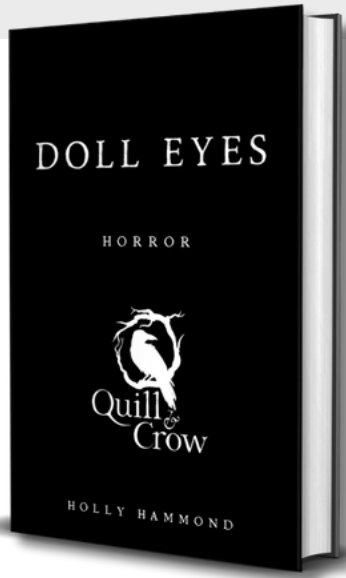

Imprint: Quill & Crow
Pub Date: April 20, 2027
ISBN: 978-1-967911-75-2
Format: hardcover, ebook, audio

E.A. Noble is a dirty-south loudmouth, a queer magnolia flower grown from the potholes of Mississippi. She attended Jackson State University, an HBCU, where she studied Creative Writing and fell in love with Southern folklore and storytelling. Noble's work centers womanhood, power, resistance, and reclamation of Queer bodies within speculative fiction.

MAY

Doll Eyes

by Holly Hammond

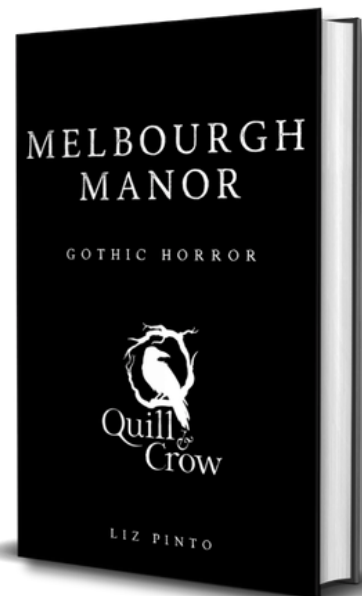

Lucy is just an average 20-something nanny, but her young charge, Tabitha, is anything but normal. More than just mature for her nine years, Tabitha runs her household with an iron fist—and a mysterious dollhouse with miniature inhabitants that no one is allowed to touch. After a series of injuries and deaths, Lucy finally figures out Tabitha's secret, but it might be too late.

HORROR

Imprint: Quill & Crow
Pub Date: May 4, 2027
ISBN: 978-1-967911-77-6
Format: paperback,
ebook, audio

Holly Hammond is a writer and artist living in Los Angeles with her pudgy bulldog Wednesday (yes, as in Addams). She writes things and draws things and sometimes makes them into comics. When she's not doing that, she's painting, belly dancing, reading, doing magic, or watching horror movies. Sometimes, she even goes outside. She's also a breast cancer survivor and type 1 diabetic, meaning she is quite difficult to kill.

Melbourn Manor

by Liz Pinto

Theo Ashford would do anything for his employer Joseph Melbourn—lie, cheat, even murder. But Joseph's relationship with his father is anything but healthy, and Joseph's new bride Rachel seems determined to undermine their carefully curated way of life, to the detriment of all. Theo has a choice to make—protect his employer, or allow their world to be dismantled piece by piece.

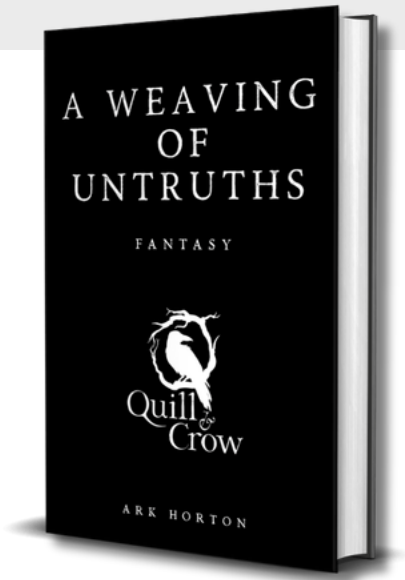

Gothic Horror

Imprint: Quill & Crow
Pub Date: May 18, 2027
ISBN: 978-1-967911-80-6
Format: hardcover,
ebook, audio

Liz has always been drawn to gothic and atmospheric worlds. She earned her BA in English with a focus in Professional Writing and Editing. When she's not lost beneath the stack of unread books in her bedroom, she's probably writing her own haunted stories. Her short fiction has appeared in Dracula Beyond Stoker and other publications. She is a member of the Horror Writers Association and currently resides in South Carolina with her husband and two sons.

JUNE

A Weaving of Untruths

by Ark Horton

Vero dreamed of serving the gods and giving her mother a secure life. Being a mortal woman in a country built for elven nobility meant she had to use the gifts Freyja and Odin gave her to achieve those goals. When she became Duke Tyrson's mistress, it seemed all her plans were finally bearing fruit. That was before she learned firsthand about the dark history of Tagesar Castle and how dangerous hearts can be.

Dark Fantasy

Imprint: Quill & Crow
Pub Date: June 15, 2027
ISBN: 978-1-967911-81-3
Format: hardcover,
ebook, audio

Ark Horton is a small woman made of round shapes and long sighs. She's also a wife, mother of three, and a published speculative fiction author.

More Upcoming Titles

Masque, Amanda M. Blake

Raptus, Catherine Fearn

The Unspeakable, Sandra Becerril

Its Hour Come Round At Last, Mathew L Reyes

...and more TBA

2
0
2
8

COMING SOON

Quill &
Crow

Quill & Crow
CROW TEEN

Quill & Crow
NONFICTION